

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

Jump to navigationJump to search

For the Wikipedia guidelines, see Wikipedia:What is an article?, Wikipedia:Good articles and Wikipedia:Featured articles. To start a Wikipedia article, see Wikipedia:Your first article.

Look up article or articles in Wiktionary, the free dictionary.

Article or articles may refer to:

Article \(grammar\), a grammatical element used to indicate definiteness or indefiniteness

Article \(publishing\), a piece of nonfictional prose that is an independent part of a publication

Government and law

Article \(European Union\), articles of treaties of the European Union

Articles of association, the regulations governing a company, used in India, the United Kingdom and other countries

Articles of clerkship, the contract accepted to become an articulated clerk

Articles of Confederation, the predecessor to the current United States Constitution

Articles of incorporation, for corporations, U.S. equivalent of articles of association

Articles of organization, for limited liability organizations, a U.S. equivalent of articles of association

Other uses

Article, an HTML element, delimited by the tags `<article>` and `</article>`

Article of clothing, an item of clothing

"Articles", a song on the 1993 album Un-Sentimental by Beowulf

Articles of faith, sets of beliefs usually found in creeds

RDS-1, the Soviet Union's first atomic test device, code-named "the article"

See also

Artical \(disambiguation\)

Article One \(disambiguation\)

Article Two \(disambiguation\)

Article Three \(disambiguation\)

Article Four \(disambiguation\)